

Aura Photography “Proof”

The auric field around a person is an energetic signature, depicting the state of that person (including their thinking/consciousness) at the moment the photo is taken.

These photos come from a cancer detection study done back in 1987 using a form of aura photography around a person’s finger.

The faint bright line on the left image has been found to indicate the presence of cancer.

In the image on the right, even though cancer still exists in the body after death, note that not only has the bright line now disappeared from the aura, but so have all the strange detailing and non-uniformity of the left image. In fact, the image on the right now appears similar to that of mineral (which would make sense, as bones are made up of calcium, which is a mineral). The only difference between the two photos is that consciousness (which directly effects and controls the person’s “energy signature”) has left the physical body.

Aura Photography “Proof”

Here's a later study in which the researcher was looking to validate (or refute) the results from the previous 1987 study.

On the left image, the “spiral defect” line is again found, confirming the energy signature of cancer.

The right image is from a different person – who are far as anyone knows does NOT have cancer – but who is afraid of getting cancer.

The “energy signature” of cancer is again present, although much more faint than that of the person who has cancer.

It would have been interesting to follow up with the person who was afraid of getting cancer to see if they later manifested cancer.

“Sound is a carrier wave for consciousness” and “the RIGHT sound + the INTENTION = a SHIFT”

These are concepts which are known and understood by myself, but the “person on the street” is always looking for “proof.”

Attending a conference where Belle Star was doing some aura photography, I asked her if she’d be game for a “test” where I’d have her do an aura photo “before” and “after” listening to some sound. She said it was a waste of time, because the aura would not show any significant change in so short a time, but after some persuasion on my part (and of course offering to pay for both photos), she agreed. The photo on the left was done, immediately following which I went up to my hotel room (in the same building) and listened to “Experience 2” from the “Shifting Consciousness Through Sound (and Images)” CD, and then went right back down and had Belle take another aura photo (the one appearing on the right). She was quite surprised to see such a significant change in such a short amount of time. I don’t recall all the things she said about what coloring indicates what on the photos, but I do recall her chart on the wall said “Green = Healing.” Green is clearly visible on the “after” photo. I’m not sure what it was “healing,” though, as my physical condition was quite sound at the time (and has been now for 10 years).